Rupee opened on depreciated note tracking weak Asian equity market and global economy recovery concern. But, later it recouped boosted by firm domestic indices, large capital inflow and weakening dollar index. The Dollar index fell as greenback depreciated against major currencies. At the end of trading session, the Indian spot rupee closed at 47.1275 levels, down by 5 paisa or 0.1 percent. US equities ended in green and closed up by 201 points on positive company results. Moreover, Asian equity market also opened on positive note. Sensex is likely to follow the league, expecting firm opening and boosted capital inflow. Day ahead, we expect Indian rupee to strengthen against green back	US$	47.14	47.16	-0.02 old prices eased in Asian trade Friday as traders await the outcome of European bank stress test. Gold for immediate delivery was seen trading at $1194.47 an ounce at 12.00 noon Singapore time while U.S. gold futures for August delivery was at $1,194.4 an ounce on the Comex division of the NY Mercantile Exchange. Analysts said the precious yellow metal dropped despite gains in equities as investors thought gold may retrace if the stress test shows broadly positive results.

Bullion

Metal

Copper futures prices are trading at their highest levels in two months in London and New York, with tightening spreads, a lower dollar and falling warehouse stocks lifting prices. Analysts cited several reasons for the gains: global demand recovery, a fall in mine supplies and to an extent, arbitrage between different exchanges. Generally positive earnings reports by miners and the overall equities market is also giving copper prices a lift. At 1 p.m. ET London Metal Exchange copper was around $6,790 a metric ton and Comex September copper prices were up 7.3 cents to $3.1660 a pound.
